Online Meet

Objectives

- Discuss and finalise the various platforms for integration with the analytics dashboard; review some new platforms suggested by the client and evaluate their feasibility for integration.
- Seek clarifications regarding the existing client presence on various suggested platforms, as well as the current marketing strategies and focus areas in place.
- Review the finalised requirements document with client feedback and inputs to guide the drafting of the software requirements specification (SRS) document.

Clarifications

1. Google Analytics

- a. currently used by the client, it offers its own dashboard which needs to be analysed so that essential features can be integrated into the final comprehensive dashboard
- b. access to client's Google Analytics account is required to understand what current web analytics is useful to integrate into our dashboard

2. YouTube

- a. the client has not extensively used YouTube for marketing purposes; there are limited uploads and advertised content on their current platforms, and the current viewer/subscriber base is small
- b. YouTube is a long-term goal for the client, who wishes to expand into content creation to advertise their products in the near future; hence, they want to understand the feasibility of integrating the YouTube analytics widget into the dashboard for their future endeavours

3. Google Ads

- a. the client clarified that they do not require Google Ads integration anymore as it is beyond the scope of their current marketing strategy; the space for similar companies using Google Ads for advertising is currently significantly crowded, and the service is more useful for B2C product delivery, which is not the company's main focus

4. Instagram/Facebook

- a. confirmed with the client whether they use Meta business accounts for marketing on Instagram and Facebook; this would enable us to leverage the existing Meta Dashboard for platform-specific analytics
- b. the client also mentioned that they do not currently focus on Facebook as much for marketing and that they have largely shifted to Instagram for the same; these can be weighted accordingly when integrated into the dashboard as widgets

5. Blinkit

- a. the client suggested Blinkit as another platform where they wish to advertise; they currently have two products that are available for sale on Blinkit
- b. adding a product to Blinkit involves paying for a certain amount of advertising credits; clients can bid for certain keywords, which allow for better visibility if you are the highest bidder
- c. the client wanted us to log in to their Blinkit account and evaluate what analytics and metrics were currently available on the Blinkit dashboard, so as to understand the feasibility of integration with our main dashboard

Action Items

- Finalise the list of accounts and services for which client credentials are to be requested from the client's side, which must be communicated and promptly clarified with the client.
- Polish and formalise the complete set of requirements post client review, and proceed with drafting of the software requirements specification (SRS) document.
